Feltham Asda lead project to feed the homeless in London on Sewa Day

Colleagues at Asda in Feltham volunteered their time to feed hundreds of homeless people in Charing Cross as part of Sewa Day on Sunday (5).

The group which included employees and community champions from a number of Asda stores and a representative from MP for Feltham and Heston Seema Malhotra's office, handed out food and drinks including hot samosa's and rice to about 400 people living on the streets of London.

The move by the local supermarket was led by Feltham store manager Arrash Mahdavi and community life champion Rishika Arora who wanted to do a good deed on National Volunteer Day, and involved stores across the region in Feltham, Wembley and Southgate where food items were collected for the homeless.

The Asda team were seen sporting the Sewa Day t-shirts 'I am the change' and worked alongside the Sikh Welfare Awareness Team (S.W.A.T) who provide food for the homeless on a weekly basis.

Ms Arora said: "This was an amazing experience which we were glad to be a part of and would love to be involved with more often."

A donation of £300 was also made to S.W.A.T.
